

San Diego Council—California Association of Teachers of English presents

PROMISING PRACTICES OF POETRY

Saturday, March 9, 2019, 8:30am—12:30pm

PLNU Liberty Station Conference Center
2600 Laning Road, San Diego, CA 92106

Daniela Sow teaches at Grossmont College and serves as the Creative Writing Program Co-Coordinator. She earned her Master’s of Fine Arts degree in Creative Writing (Poetry) from San Diego State University and her Post-secondary Reading and Learning Certificate from California State University, Fullerton. Her poetry has been published in San Diego Poetry Annual, A Cappella Zoo, and Encompassing Seas, and as a spoken word artist, she has competed on Team Ventura in the National Poetry Slam. She has taught poetry not only to students at Grossmont College but also to at-risk youth at Noah’s Anchorage, a transitional house in Santa Barbara, through the non-profit organization Arts for Humanity!.

Viet Mai is an educator and poet from San Diego, CA. Upon finding his voice through spoken word poetry, Mr. Viet has connected with community leaders throughout San Diego and other cities to inspire young people, promote civic engagement, celebrate art and culture, and elevate social consciousness. Mr. Viet currently serves as a Program Facilitator with the Village of Promise Collective Mentoring Program, an Independent Consultant, specializing in Education, Data Analysis, and Community Development, and a RISE Urban Leadership Fellow. After completing his MA in Social Innovation, Viet Mai is exploring the startup community and impact sector to find ways of designing and implementing sustainable change.

April is National Poetry Month! Presenters Daniela Sow and Viet Mai will engage you in the power of poetry with lessons ready to excite your students.
